THE LEGEND

... My arm reaches out as a lost child
Looking for his mother;
Ever groping and grasping
From one intangible to another.
Can I find it by reaching into space?
This veil of confusion that covers my face?
Must I search once again for a piece of my Future?
What happens then?
It soon becomes a part of the Past
And my weary arm again must find
A small piece of that infinite Future
That too soon will be left behind . . .

FOREWORD

I Hear America Singing

I hear America singing
I hear her stirring voice
As she lifts her heart in joyous song
I hear the world rejoice
For she sings of opportunity
As her wheels of progress grind
Of justice, freedom, peace on earth
"Seek and ye shall find"
She chants Negro Spirituals
Christmas carols
David's psalms

Brahms

She echoes Lincoln

The "Common Sense" of Thomas Paine

Has found its place in America

She cries of war and sighs of peace

Her string of heroes is unceasing

Have found their place in America

She laughs at new and chaffs at old

But her steadfast hands continue molding

Franklin

Have found their place in America

Her inspiring rhythm never ends

She sings of the People in a harmony that blends

'Tis here in this melody that you

Irving J. Goldberg

CLASS ADVISER

Our yearbook could not be complete without a special note of thanks to our beloved grade adviser, Mr. Goldberg.

It is not an easy task — playing part-time father to 190 oft-confused teen-agers.

Many times our problems have seemed insurmountable, but Mr. Goldberg's understanding and sense of humor have always shown us the way.

We shall not soon forget.

DEDICATION

We, the graduating class of January 1953, are proud and pleased to dedicate this "Legend" to our parents.

Many times we have tried to thank you verbally for the love and guidance you have given us, but we have been confronted with the problem of finding only a lump in our throats.

For firmly taking us by the hand and safely guiding us along the rough and rugged path of life, we are grateful for this opportunity of expressing our sincere thanks to you, our Parents.

"All are needed by each one Nothing is fair or good alone."

RALPH WALDO EMERSON

For four long exciting years you have worked together, played together and suffered (?) together. You have had many common experiences. You have ready many of the same books. You have studied many of the same lessons. You have had many of the same teachers.

From all of these you have learned both consciously and unconsciously. The record of your conscious learnings appears on your report cards, in your "Calumet" and "Legend" and in your trophy cases. Your unconscious learnings lie deep within you. Some day in the near or distant future, you will think of a problem solved at Weequahic and the memory of that solution will help you to solve a problem of life. One day you will think of a wise word uttered by a teacher or friend at school and it will guide you to a wise decision. Some day you will recall an amusing incident of your high school days and your reminiscent chuckle will help to carry you over a low moment.

And so your common experiences and your common learnings at Weequahic have bound you together more firmly than you now realize. Wherever you meet one another ten, twenty, thirty and more years from today, you will clasp hand gladly, your eyes will light up with pleasure and you will joyously re-live the "good old days".

Michael Conovitz
PRINCIPAL

I am pleased to have this opportunity to extend my heartiest congratulations and good wishes to all the members of the Class of January 1953.

*"Fare thee well! and if forever,
Still for ever, fare thee well."*

VICE PRINCIPAL

It has been my privilege to become acquainted with a large number of students in the present graduating class, and I am very happy to report that we have some very fine boys and girls in this class.

Many of you will go on to college while others will find their niche in business or industry. While some of you may forget some of the subject matter you have learned at Weequahic High School, I know many of you will not only continue to bring honor to yourselves, but will also carry on in the fine tradition of Weequahic High School.

My heartfelt wishes to all of you for your future happiness, success, and good health.

A hand-drawn illustration of a scroll with a title and a poem. The scroll is unrolled, showing the text. It is surrounded by several five-pointed stars of varying sizes, some of which are drawn with multiple overlapping lines, giving them a starburst or constellation-like appearance. The scroll has a simple, slightly irregular outline, and the text is centered on it. The background is a light, textured grey.

I Exist As I Am

I exist as I am, that is enough,
If no other in the world be aware
I sit content,
If each and all be aware,
I sit content.
One world is aware and
By far the largest to me,
And that is myself.

Class Will

We, the Class of January, 1953 of Weequahic High School, Newark, New Jersey, being all of sound minds and bodies do hereby sign and publish this our Last Will and Testament.

We bestow upon Mr. Conovitz the privilege of probating this will to its full extent.

To Dr. Jellinek, our vice principal, who has the responsibility of seeing that no one is absent from class without good reason, we bequeath a lie detector.

To Mr. Goldberg, our grade adviser, a million dollars' worth of gratitude for the wonderful job he did.

To the coming 4A's we render the right to go up down stairways and down up stairways, the practice at which we have unsuccessfully tried our hand.

To the Juniors, the hope that they some day become Seniors.

To the Sophomores we would like to present a compass to explore the unknown regions of the "Main Building."

To the Freshmen, the dream that some day the portals of the "Main Building" will open for them.

For our homeroom teachers we have provided that they may have a year's supply of aspirin, the need of which they have often expressed to us.

To Mrs. Budin we leave any extra copies of the "Legend" which have been abandoned.

To the Janitorial Staff, we leave an Electrolux.

To all future chemistry and physics students we leave a copy of corrected experiments.

To the O. B. A. Council the hope that some day they may have another president with the ambition of our Herbert Sher.

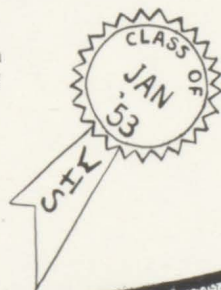

To the Board of Education we leave this fine example of modern architecture located on Chancellor Avenue.

Signed, sealed and delivered on this day of January in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and fifty-three.

CLASS

*As a twig trembles, which a bird
Lights on to sing, then leaves unbent
So is my memory thrilled and stirred.*

JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL

Proud of being students at Weequahic High School and full of grand aspirations for the future, we, the Class of January 1953, coming from many different schools, met in the Weequahic Annex. As usual, being freshmen, we were subjected to a battery of occupational tests for which we could see no value. Later that year Untermann Field was opened. Our class had high hopes of witnessing a Weequahic football victory under the guidance of our new coach, Lou Stamelman. The months passed quickly during that first term. Soon we were trudging our way through the slush and snow to the main building.

Although our morale was lowered by an occasional snicker from an upperclassman, our expectations for a successful career at Weequahic were not dimmed. Our class, numbering 222, was now fully organized. We met for the first time our friends from Madison Junior High School. That year held in store for us many surprises, one of which was the sight of boys and girls not wearing dungarees for an entire week. We were being evaluated and we wanted to look our best. Our musicians made a name for themselves by placing a record number of people on the all-state orchestra and by presenting Weequahic's first music festival. But our mathematicians were not to be outdone. They were successful in capturing the N. Y. U. Math Trophy for the third time, thus retaining the cup. Wiser now than twelve months before, we approached the half-way mark in our high school education and became juniors.

Being eligible to vote was new to us, but we confidently elected Krim, Sheitelman, Sklaw, and Gordon to lead our class. Our first undertaking, a class picnic, unfortunately had to be cancelled, but the 3A Hoe Down a few months later was a tremendous success. There was a note of sadness in our voices when in June of that year we had to bid farewell to our retiring principal, Max J. Herzberg.

HISTORY

In September things began happening fast. First we returned our class leaders to office and helped elect Sher to the O. B. A. Council. Then our football team, with the rousing support of our new principal, Mr. Michael Conovitz, surged to new heights by becoming city champs for the first time in Weequahic history. Also, our mermen splashed to victory, coming up with the city swimming crown, a much-prized possession. Meanwhile, Mr. William Rubinfeld, who had taken over our guidance department, inaugurated a system of occupational discussions which have been of benefit to us all. During that same year our school was honored by the presence of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who spent the day at Weequahic and addressed our assembly. And so a most eventful junior year drew to a close.

Now we were seniors; we looked, felt, and acted the same, but yet we were different. Realizing that we would soon be finished with high school we investigated the possibilities of furthering our education at college or of obtaining employment after graduation. Krim, Claire, Sklaw, and Gordon now led our class as we began the production of our senior play, "Out of The Frying Pan". Much work and constant rehearsals made the comedy, featuring Traum and Sokolov, with Fruchter and Green in supporting roles, a smash hit. About the same time everyone at school was in a dither over an O. B. A.-sponsored talent show, another first for Weequahic. Our Hop, with Tropicana as its theme, received a fine turnout. Feurstein and Pack were elected King and Queen respectively. In our last term at Weequahic we chose Krim, Pollack, Sklaw, and Gordon to head our class and Sher to lead the O. B. A. The prom committee selected the Grand Ballroom of the Military Park Hotel as the place to hold our senior prom. We will always remember how we looked that evening in our tuxedos and evening gowns as we danced to the music of Paul Manning and his orchestra at the most talked of event of the year.

Day by day the time dwindled away until, after passing the torch of seniority, we approached commencement. In many an eye a tear could be seen as we marched down the aisle and across the stage to receive our diplomas.

THELMA HILF

Three Years Gone By

*As frightened sophomores we entered the tent,
 Towards knowledge and fun our thoughts were bent;
 There were seniors around us by the masses,
 And they tried to sell us their elevator passes;
 This was the story of our sophomore year;
 We were belittled, bewitched, and stricken with fear.
 In our third year new officers we chose,
 They planned with us a dance in country-style clothes;
 Some of our boys were on the football team
 That won the City Championship and brought us esteem;
 We look back now at that junior year with pride,
 For it left us only one stop before the end of the ride.
 Being a senior is something that really pays,
 We had a Hop, a Prom, and two wonderful Torch Days;
 Now we are looking forward to January 28, '53
 When a tearful audience will watch to see
 One hundred and ninety proud graduates march to their seats on the stage,
 For they have reached the end of their high school page
 In the book of life—which has many chapters more,
 And we hope they hold for us only good things in store.*

THELMA HILF

*If you think it is all fun being a Senior A,
 Pay heed to what I am going to say,
 For some day when you are about to be graduated,
 You will realize that this list is not exaggerated.
 We rejoiced at the speed with which the four years fled,
 But now take a look at what goes on in a senior's head:*

*"Did I really pass the subjects I took?"
 "Do you think we can ever get out a yearbook?"
 "What person shall I ask to the Prom?"
 "What will the college exam be on?"
 "Will my graduation pictures come out bad?"
 "If I don't get enough tickets will Aunt May be mad?"
 "Will I like the job I'll eventually get?"
 "Will graduation expenses put me in debt?"
 "Shall I get a new outfit for Torch Day?"
 "If the scholarship doesn't come through, how will I pay?"*

*I could continue for pages, but you understand what I mean,
 Being a Senior A isn't all peaches and cream;
 All we can do is leave it to fate,
 And hope our problems are solved by January 28.*

SPORTS

Without the school's athletic program our years at Weequahic might have been a little dull. Our athletic stalwarts have given us victories to cheer for and memories of contests to cherish during the coming years. Losing a game never discouraged them, instead they fought on and on, only harder. Our cheers, perhaps louder than those of our opponents, never included discourtesies to the opposing side. We were only intent on giving our teams wholehearted support.

Until 1951 Weequahic High was a "pushover" for most of its opposition, but our boys changed the school's reputation, and with Coach Lou Stamelman at their helm, they pushed their way to the first football City Championship in the Wigwam's history. In fact, our class had the largest number of participants on the team—ten.

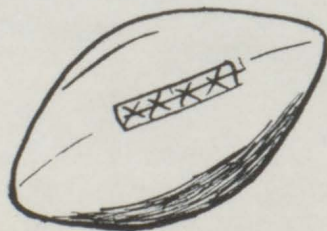

We did not retain our title in 1952, but we were the team to look out for. Our first victory was not too impressive over South Side, but we improved as the season progressed. Finishing third in the City League competition with a season record of four wins and four losses, the Orange and Brown was still unable to beat the Hillside jinx.

Weequahic's swimming team, sparked by Marty Claire, Herb Sabin, Barry Herman and Robert Krim, brought more glory to the school as they captured the City League laurels for swimming.

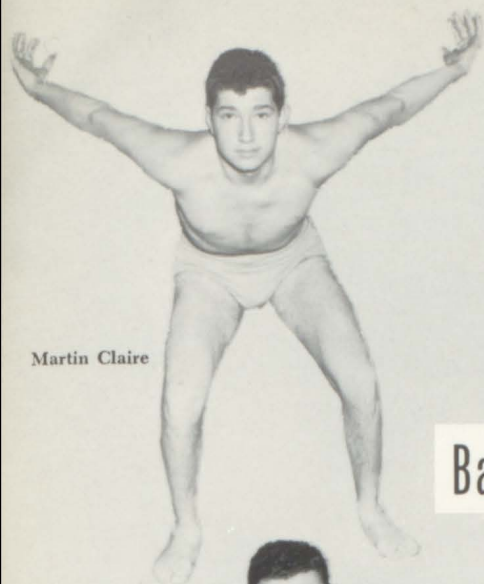

In basketball we must give merits to letter-winners Art Williams and Ed Mayerson, who headlined the netter's attack.

Our baseball team has also been fighting gallantly for our "tee-pee" on Chancellor Avenue. William Pollack, Larry Sosnow, Ed Burns, Ed Mayerson and Morton Stenzler, an ALL-CITY candidate, were successful members of the squad, under the able guidance of Coach Art Lustig and Jerry Stein, student manager.

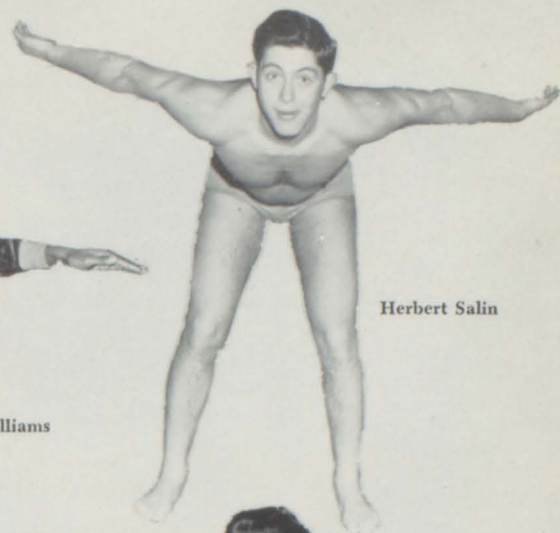

It feels good to be a winner. We thank "whatever Gods may be" for their unconquerable souls.

MEL FRUCHTER

Every coach's envy. Mel has established a fine reputation on Weequahic's forward wall.

GORDY RUBIN

A speedy and qualified back. His early season injury didn't stop him; he came back to bolster our powerhouse in later season.

ERWIN SLOAN

He stymied his opponents with his offensive and defensive maneuvers. This guard is a sixty-minute man.

WILLIAM POLLACK

The Orange and Brown's most under-rated tackler. He runs interference as if the opposition had a paper-thin line.

ROBERT BRODTKIN

An outstanding back. One of the Indians' high-scoring stalwarts.

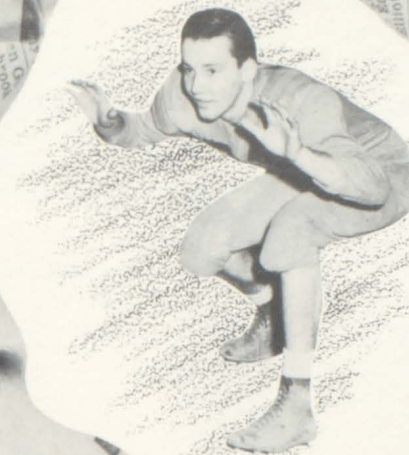

LENNY SCHENERMAN

His pleasant smiles in school changed to a mere grimace on the field.

MARV SIEGEL

A terrific guard, whose punting equally balances his line performance.

ANDY ZUPKO

The main sparkplug on the hard charging Weequahic line. His blocking was the key to setting up touchdown plays. Our candidate for ALL STATE.

ED FREEDMAN

"Freedman picks up another first down for the Indians." Here's a common statement about our fleet-footed back.

MARV ROSENBERG

How true the adage for our quarterback: "Good things come in small packages."

LARRY SOSNOW

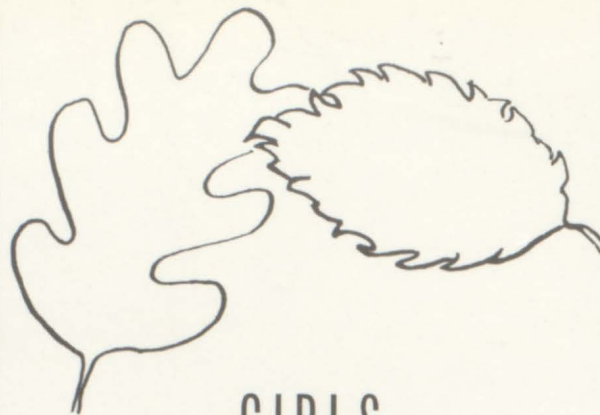

Give me a man who is stout-hearted, who will fight for the school he adores. Give me Sosnow, our ALL CITY center.
